Race1 — PSS ELECTRICAL & MAINTENANCE HANDICAP
2:32pm ⭐⭐

DISTANCE: 1200m | PRIZEMONEY: $22,000

Tb	Frm	Horse Name	Assd	BP	Wt	Trainer	Jockey

8	x385	SINGLE BEAT	-	3	56.5	NORM GARDNER	KAYLA NISBET
9	x882	ZAZEL	$2.00	6	56.5	KEITH DRYDEN	JACK MARTIN

Race Analysis: Looks a race in two to get the card underway. Zazel ran into a smart one last time out and the numbers from that effort stack right up in this field. Looks a clear top pick but the market has her pegged as that as well. Miss Stalwart was close to her best first-up at the Sapphire Coast but just looked to peak on the effort late. Strips fitter for that effort and her best figures would take it right up to Zazel.

Race2 — NVS PAVING AND LANDSCAPING HANDICAP

8	97x0	OFF DA HIZZLE	$10.00	6	58.0	R & W FREEDMAN	JEAN VAN OVERMEIRE
9	1	REDFORD	$3.00	4	57.0	ANNABEL NEASHAM	ALYSHA COLLETT

Race Analysis: Not much between this field. Redford won impressively as favourite on debut and the form from behind him has stood up nicely. Looks to have all the tools to improve again but would need to if he was to make it two-from-two. Vaaroom put it all together last time in a big win, but those figures only match what All Astern did winning at Gundagai. Now third-up and out in trip, suspect she can return to her form prior to the long layoff. Off Da Hizzle is interesting. Form behind Major Beel and Hawaii Five Oh in February over this trip and has been run off his feet in shorter contests since then. Gets his first chance today to return to his prior form and JVO strikes at 27% when teaming up for the Freedman's. Worth keeping safe.

Race Analysis: Beauty Bound is pick of the Neasham runners. Good effort at Wyong on debut with handy form coming out of that race. Put away after that and has trialled well in readiness for her racetrack return. Would only need to run up to her debut figures to be at the pointy end of things. Resurrected returns a gelding and has the advantage of a handy barrier. Good debut effort but hard to see him jumping over Beauty Bound on the back of his trials coming in. Pretty Sassy was scratched from Gosford to run here and is not to be discounted, while Wegotabetterhoffa trialled behind two winners and has claims.

13	x924	LA SAGRADA	$7.00	11	55.0	ROBERT QUINN	JEAN VAN OVERMEIRE

Race Analysis: Hard to find an angle in the staying contest. Acceber has been plugging away in tougher races than this but the early price is hard to stomach with his figures only matching a few of these in the race. Australian Harbour made it a strong staying contest last start and only found one better. Fitter now and should find the front with ease again. Alpine Kandy is one who could improve sharply. Caught in a (very) slow race at Muswellbrook and now out to 2000m for the first time. La Sagrada put the writing on the wall at Newcastle but has had a few opportunities to knock off the maiden now. Reet Petite didn't have the best of luck in the Highway but wasn't too far off her prior figures there. Can take a leap up to this trip but would have to if she were to win.

14	4x88	RAGER	-	8	55.0	KEVIN BYRNE	TEAGHAN MARTIN (A3.0)

Race Analysis: Oneforian showed plenty of promise on debut, missing the start at Gundagai before weaving through the traffic and winning comfortably. Sectional data backed up what the visuals told us there and he looks to have plenty more to come. Good trainer, good jock and good gate all make for - you guessed it - good reading! Long Memory did well to win at Hawkesbury, but the time was only fair and the ones behind him were nothing special. Has missed the start in both runs now and if he spots Oneforian a few lengths turning for home, it's hard to see him making that up. Bold Triumph and Miss Belgium are ticking along nicely but look as though they've bumped into a couple of smart ones this time.

9	68x6	BEAU ROCK	-	9	55.0	GRATZ VELLA	KAYLA NISBET

Race Analysis: Market looks to have a good hold on the Federal. Miss Ostend had no luck in the Barn Dance and has trialled well since. Put two on the bounce prior to that and looks the obvious top pick. Prophets Pride was good in the Snake Gully Cup and back to 1200m looks ideal for her. Nice barrier can see her get every chance in running and she rates a wining hope. If she's a winning hope, then the same has to be said of Mittata who was 1L behind PP in the Snake Gully. He meets Prophet's Pride 5kg better and he's been in career best form this campaign. Form ties through a few of these and he can land the knockout punch at the bottom of the weights.

11	59x0	MANDALORIAN	-	6	55.0	JASON COYLE	BEANY PANYA (A1.5)

Race Analysis: Hellfire Express could be one on the way through. Ran good time from the front at Orange last start and should strip fitter again third-up. Runners from behind her have improved since and his full sister is a winner over 1500m. Good signs last start and can go to the next level now. Reliable Dude and Final Comment finished alongside each other here a fortnight ago. Race was dominated from the front and with more tempo expected this time, it should play into their hands a little more. Whether Reliable Dude wants further now is the query. Flic En Flac was deplorable in town LS with no obvious reasons why. Only fair the start prior at Goulburn too when beaten a length. Needs to get back to something like her best to be challenging.

12	479x	MAID A QUID	-	1	55.0	BECKY BYRNE	BRANDON LERENA

Race Analysis: : Tricky race to end the day and going wide in the Quaddie looks the play. Titan Star is an absolute warhorse who performs well over this track and trip. May have found the 1200m a bridge too far his past couple and back slightly in trip can bring the best out of him. Epaullo Creed trialled really well here behind Miss Ostend, and we'll get a good guide to that in the Federal. Hold was back to something like her best here last start but costs herself at the barriers. If she can jump with them and put herself into the race, she'll be in this for a long way. Heavenly Prophet has a number of ratings good enough to feature and draws to get every chance.
